

CONVENTION KEY WENT HOME WITH THE RACINE BUNCH

Mystery of the Trophy Is Cleared Up Today with Departure of City's Guests

THEY ALMOST STARTED SUIT

Key Stealers Had to Be Promised the Prize Before They Would Stop Action

WELL PLEASED AT ASSEMBLY

Dittman Thanks City in Behalf of Local Aerie and State Aerie Adopts Resolution of Thanks

The key to La Crosse rests on the wall of the Eagles' club rooms at Racine. Although they scuffled to the last ditch, "Billy" Brickner and his bunch of blue coated Milwaukee

Eagles, winners of the parade contest left for home last night minus the coveted trophy. The true story of the adventures of the key was told today by W. F. Adams, worthy president of the La Crosse aerie, as the last of the delegates left town, and La Crosse started to divest herself of every building downtown every street corner and every white way post.

Adams was standing on Fourth and Main streets, and looking in a reminiscent mood when he told of a threatened lawsuit that almost resulted from the anxiousness of the Racine aggregation to obtain possession of the key.

Almost Started Suit

"They got real serious," said Adams. "They wanted the key and they meant to have it. Even went so far," he said, "as to consult attorneys here as to the lawfulness of the legal proceedings." Billy Brickner and his Milwaukee Eagles went to their effort to get the key from them."

"We had to quiet them down," he said, "so we told them they would have the key, and night before last they again boxed it up and sent it home."

At every Eagles' convention held in Wisconsin, the key to the convention city has been the bone of friendly contention. "Billy" Brickner, official stenographer of the Eagles' conventions, has been the Milwaukee club rooms are decorated with seven keys, and the Milwaukee Eagles had begun to look upon every key as their own individual property.

Brickner arrived in La Crosse Tuesday morning, and when he found the key gone, he swore vengeance. He learned that Racine Eagles had the object boxed securely, and he secured a writ of replevin. Sheriff George J. Ritter served it, and the key rested in the detention cell at the court house for three days.

Wuerzberger, Jefferson and Breckenridge blew up when they heard the news, and visits to attorneys' offices started. Then President Adams assumed the role of pacifier.

Rear Guard Leaves

Most of the rear guards of the 1,500 Eagles attending the convention left the city on morning trains today, tired and weary and glad to be going home, but enthusiastic over the treatment given them by the La Crosse birds.

"Looking back over the week," said Secretary C. A. Dittman today, "La Crosse Eagles, (I am talking for the whole aerie), can be nothing but overwhelmed with the success of the convention."

"We went to Antigo last year but twenty-five strong, it really seemed as though we were twenty-five weak, and we wanted the convention for 1915. We went with the express purpose of getting it and we came back with the bacon." Antigo had a big convention, and business men and representative Eagles from all over the state promised us the biggest convention that the Eagles ever held."

"That was before the European war and its accompanying depression," Dittman pointed out today, "and the delegates to the Antigo convention made the statement to us without figuring on this fact."

Perfectly Satisfied

"That is why the La Crosse aerie gave out that La Crosse would be visited by 5,000 Eagles. Looking back over the week, and the number that came, I am satisfied beyond words. Those who did come here had enthusiasm enough for all the Eagles in Wisconsin, and the showing we made will go down on the front page of the history of Eagledom in Wisconsin."

The way the citizens of La Crosse came to the aid of local Eagles in entertaining the delegates made our hearts glad. We asked for one hundred automobiles in the sight-seeing tour of the city, and almost twice that number were at hand when we

Philipp Replaces Him With Cleary

CLEARY SUCCEEDS EKERN IN OFFICE HELD MANY YEARS

Governor's Solicitor Becomes State Insurance Commissioner by Appointment of Philipp

Ousted Official Father of Great Laws That Protect People of Wisconsin in Insurance

MADISON, Wis., June 25.—M. J. Cleary, executive counsel to the governor, was this morning named as insurance commissioner to succeed H. L. Ekern.

In the retirement of Mr. Ekern Wisconsin loses an insurance commissioner of national reputation, an expert whose counsel has been sought by experts on insurance legislation in New York and other states, father of most of Wisconsin's important insurance laws. His retirement at a time when he is engaged in exposing exorbitant insurance rates charged in Wisconsin is looked upon as having political significance.

Mr. Ekern came into prominence early in the years of the La Follette governorships, when he was made speaker of the assembly. Later he became insurance commissioner, but not until, as a member of the legislature, he had drawn and led in the passage of the great insurance measures that safeguarded the people of Wisconsin.

During the last term of Francis E. McGovern, as governor, the executive ordered Ekern removed from office for alleged political activity. Ekern resisted, barricading the offices and successfully defying an attempt to forcibly eject him. He appealed to the courts, and the supreme court held his removal void for want of cause.

SALOON-KEEPERS TO BE ON CARPET MONDAY EVENING

Few Are Said to Be in Line for Refusal of License and Several Are to Be Warned by Council

A dozen saloon-keepers will be on the carpet before the city council on Monday evening, when the annual liquor license meeting of the city fathers is held, at which applications for liquor licenses for the coming year will be considered.

One hundred forty-four applications have been made for licenses, and for the past week the special liquor license committee has been going over the applications with the chief of police. The committee has also made a tour of investigation.

It is understood that a few of the applicants are to be refused license, and several will be instructed to observe regulations provided by the city which they have been ignoring.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS

Three farm property transfers were recorded at the office of A. E. Thompson, register of deeds, today.

Farm land in the town of Bangor was sold by Otto Kumm to L. J. Schams for the sum of $4,000.

Pernilla Eliassen Loveng transferred farm property in Farmington township to Clara Eliassen Ophus. The consideration was $1,000.

Onalaska farm property was today sold to J. B. Johnson by R. T. Hauser for $25.

EARLY DRAFT OF GERMAN NOTE IS HIGHLY FAVORABLE

Ackerman Authoritatively Informed Appreciation of Friendship Is Contained

WOULD ACCEPT WILSON'S OFFERS

"Humanity Plea" of President Apparently Has Been Taken Seriously by Germany

BY CARL W. ACKERMAN (United Press Staff Correspondent) (Copyright, 1915, by United Press.)

BERLIN, via The Hague, June 25.—The preliminary draft of the German reply to the second American note, subject to change, I am authoritatively informed, contains the following representations:

First—That Germany is fighting for the freedom of the seas, but does not desire in any way to jeopardize the interests of neutrals.

Second—An expression of appreciation of the friendship of America.

Third—Acceptance of President Wilson's suggestion of a willingness to mediate between Germany and Great Britain to obtain a modification of the British blockade in return for a modification of Germany's methods of submarine warfare.

Fourth—An indication that Germany probably was misinformed in her contention that the Lusitania was armed.

Fifth—An indication that Germany is willing to negotiate with America along the lines laid down by President Wilson in his "humanity" plea, without entirely giving up submarine war on enemy merchantmen, which many regard as Germany's most effective sea weapon.

Sixth—An indication that any compromise to which Germany may agree regarding belligerent ships must secure to Germany the safety of her submarines from their attacks. In this connection the death of Commander Otto Weddigen and the crew of the U-9, who are alleged to have lost their lives when a British tank steamer flying the Swedish flag rammed the submarine, probably will be cited.

The German reply, in all probability, will be completed by the end of next week.

LITTLE CRIME IN CITY DURING THE BIG CONVENTION

Two Cases of Pocket-picking Reported and Both Victims Recover Their Money

With the close of the Eagles' convention and the departure of most of the holiday makers, the police today were congratulating themselves on the practical immunity from petty thievery which marked the week.

Two cases of pocket picking only were reported, and in each case the money was recovered. A check was to be sent to William Oestreich of Marshfield this afternoon for $20, the amount he lost when his wallet was "lifted" in a saloon Wednesday evening. The police found the money on the four alleged "dips" who were arrested that evening, and the "leather" was discovered in the saloon, where it had been rifled and thrown into a corner.

The last of the suspected pickpockets picked up by the local police and their outside assistants were taken to the station this morning and sent out of town. They were Charles Price, R. J. Murphy, Joe McCauley and William Taylor. Suspected of having "frisked" a passenger on a Milwaukee train of $75 on their way here, they were released when the road reported that the complainant had disappeared.

Five outside plainclothesmen, friends of Chief of Police John B. Weber, who assisted the local authorities in protecting the crowds during the convention, left La Crosse today.

HOLD AMERICANS

LOAN-DON, June 25.—The American embassy here announced today that seventeen Americans, arriving on six liners since June 1, are still held up in the Mersey off Liverpool because they either are without passports or their passports are defective. The British home office is considering their cases.

RIVER BOAT SINKS

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—The Mississippi river steamer Belle of Calhoun, plying between St. Louis and Rip Rap Landing, 45 miles above Grafton, Ill., struck a snag early today and sank in Mazier's slough, near Grafton, in 12 feet of water. The packet Dubuque rescued the crew.

WILL NOT ACCEPT ENGLAND'S DENIAL OF TRADE INJURY

Attention Will Be Called to Right of Neutrals to Carry On Trade Unmolested by the Belligerents

MAY PREPARE NOTE NEXT WEEK

Effort Will Be Made to Have Reply Completed when Wilson Returns from Vacation

BY JOHN EDWIN NEVIN (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, June 25.—England's denial that she has harmed American trade will not be accepted by the United States. Issue will be taken with the assertions in the British note. In addition, the United States will call the British foreign office's attention to the fact that the right of neutral nations to carry on their trade with each other unmolested by any belligerent.

It is expected that Secretary of State Lansing will begin preparing the reply note early next week. The detailed memoranda dealing with all interference with American commerce has been compiled for him by Acting Counselor Chandler Anderson.

The present intention is to have the note ready for President Wilson when he returns from his vacation trip. The German reply will be here by that time, and if it is satisfactory as is hoped, the president will turn his attention to the matters in dispute with Germany's enemies.

A delegation of New York importers is to confer with Secretary Lansing tomorrow. They will explain in detail how their business has been hampered by the British and French warships, which have diverted practically all vessels from neutral nations into British seaports.

OUTER WORKS OF MALBORGET GONE FROM SHELL FIRE

General Cadorna Reports Riddling of Fort Hensel by Artillery Fire

ROME, June 25.—Fort Hensel, one of the principal works of the Austrian fortress of Malborget, has been destroyed by Italian shell fire, General Cadorna reported today.

He also announced the capture of the Austrian town of Glorna, north of Plava. All along the Isonzo, particularly around Goritz, the battle has been renewed with great intensity after a lull of several days in infantry fighting. Around Plava the Bersaglieri who crossed the Isonzo have been heavily reinforced and are consolidating their positions, preparatory to a descent upon the Austrian fortress.

South of Goritz, between Sagrado and Monfalcone, Italian troops are fighting their way over a lofty plateau on the east bank of the Isonzo. The border of the plateau already is in Italian hands.

"In the Monte Nero zone, we have made further progress northward on the eastern slopes of Jarozeh," reported General Cadorna. "Our artillery has begun bombarding Conca Plezzo."

"Along the entire Tyrol-Trentino front our long range bombardment continues, with some success. Combats at Carzano, towards the plateau of Vezzena, have resulted favorably to us."

"Along the Carnia frontier, an intense artillery duel is in progress, especially at Malborget, where our guns have destroyed the cupola fort of Rensel."

WOULD BOND JITNEYS $2,000 A PIECE FOR EACH SEAT AVAILABLE

MADISON, Wis., June 25.—Rigid restrictions on jitney busses as the policy the Wisconsin legislature should adopt for the regulation of the new form of transportation service embody the recommendations of the senate committee on corporations, which has finally submitted a substitute bill to the judiciary committee.

Motor vehicles carrying passengers for hire are declared by the new bill to be common carriers, required to furnish adequate service at just and reasonable rates, and "to operate over such general routes, or within such territory, and upon such schedules, and during such hours as may reasonably be required for the accommodation of the public."

STATE ATTEMPTS TO CLEAR WHITE IN THAW TRIAL

Prosecutor Cook Says He Is Prepared to Prove White Not the Man He Was Painted

BARE EVELYN NESBIT'S LIFE

Would Prove That Evelyn's Relations with White Did Not Cause Thaw's Act

NEW YORK, June 25.—The name of Stanford White will stand clean before all the world before the present Thaw trial is concluded, declared Deputy Attorney General Cook at the opening of the trial today.

"I am prepared to prove," said Cook, "that White never was the beast which Evelyn Nesbit Thaw painted him. I am prepared to prove that she played Thaw against White for financial gain. After almost a decade of vilifying, his name will be clean when this trial ends."

To do this, he declared, Evelyn's life, from the time she left her Pittsburgh home as a girl of 13 years, for the night life of Broadway, will be bared. Cook asserted he would prove by her early life that White did not have to "seduce" her, as has been alleged in previous trials.

By this, Cook hopes to prove that the story which Evelyn told Thaw of her relations with White did not cause Thaw's act. Cook believes this new version of the White-Evelyn story shows that Thaw was suffering from paranoia long before he met Evelyn, and still is afflicted with it. Many of the facts he will use, Cook said, were obtained from Harry Nesbit, Evelyn's brother.

TO PREACH GOSPEL IN THE OPEN PLAN OF SUPT. D. C. DEWEY

Rev. Peacock and Wesleyan Male Quartet to Open Summer Meetings Near Elks' Club

First Sunday Sermon by Rev. W. J. Peacock, First Baptist church. Music by the Wesleyan Male quartet.

Churches may wear the cobwebs of summer vacation this year, but La Crosse will listen to the gospel, straight as Truth and hot as August. It will be out-of-doors gospel, under the open sky, with the stars bending low to catch the inspiration of evangelism.

D. C. Dewey, superintendent of the City Mission, is the man who thinks the church should not suspend business in deference to the fishing season. He has arranged to secure the open lot, next to the Elks' club, Fifth and State streets, for union meetings in which pastors of the city will assist.

Mr. Dewey realizes that some very good church members like to escape church during the heated period, but he thinks that if they can have church un-housed, they'll come. Then he proposes to reach a larger class who seldom or never go to church. Since "the mountain will not go to Mohamet, Mohamet will go to the mountain." Mr. Dewey has chosen a pulpit in the path of the wanderers, he has laid an ambushade to surprise and capture the passing throng.

Sunday evening, June 27, Rev. W. J. Peacock will open the first of the open air meetings, which are in the nature of union services. He will be assisted by the Wesleyan Male quartet of the German M. E. church.

The following Sunday Superintendent MacFarlane of the Minneapolis mission will preside, and there will be speakers for each Sabbath until August, when a series of every-night evangelical meetings will be held.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE INSURED

LONDON, June 12.—By Mail to New York.—Buckingham palace has been insured against Zeppelin raids, according to well defined rumors today. It is known that a London firm has just finished a comparative valuation of the palace and its contents, fixing a total value of $18,500,000. The contents of one room were valued at $5,000,000.

NORMAL WINS LAST AND FINAL FIGHT FOR NEW BUILDING

Bradley Bill Repealing Appropriation Recommended for Indefinite Postponement Today

CENTRAL BOARD SPECIAL ORDER

Governor's Education Bill Will Be Considered by Committee of Whole on Wednesday

MADISON, Wis., June 25.—La Crosse probably won a final victory in the senate today when the Bradley bill, which proposed to repeal the appropriation for a physical education building at the La Crosse state normal school, was reported by the committee for indefinite postponement.

Central Board Wednesday The central board of education bill was withdrawn from the senate committee on education this morning on motion of Senator Albers, a hearing set before the committee of the whole senate for next Wednesday afternoon.

The terminal taxation bill passed in the assembly was ordered to engrossment by a vote of 12 to 5.

Concurrence was ordered in the assembly bill prohibiting advertising for help in time of strike without indicating that a strike is on.

Bills calling for two and one-half railroad fares and creating a standing joint committee of the legislature to investigate departments were sent to defeat.

Consideration of the Jitney bus regulation bill went over until next Thursday.

Committee reports on bills were as follows: Bray and Biehler bills providing for party conventions; Skogmo bill appropriating $10,000 for investigation of marketing, all for indefinite postponement.

Many New Jobs

Favorable action was taken in committee on a substitute to the burke bill abolishing the county boards of education, by which there is to be created over 100 supervisory teachers to assist county superintendents at a salary of $600 to $800 each a year; a committee on school districts appointed by the county board, and a considerable increase in salaries of county superintendents entailing an annual increase in expense of approximately $125,000 a year.

ASSEMBLY SENDS CONSERVATION UP TO THE GOVERNOR

Almost Unanimously Passes First of Consolidation Bills as Amended by Senate Wednesday

MADISON, Wis., June 25.—The assembly today concurred in the senate amendments to the consolidation bill abolishing the state fish and game warden, state board of forestry and several minor commissions, and creating a conservation board. The bill is now ready for the governor's signature. As in the senate, the measure was passed by an almost unanimous vote.

The committee bill raising the ages of minors in employment who must attend continuation or industrial schools to 17 years was passed by the house. Assemblyman Frank Weber spoke against the bill on the same subject, specifying the number of hours an apprentice must attend industrial school, and the measure was killed.

The bill providing a board of administration for county institutions in Milwaukee county did not meet with any opposition and was unanimously passed.

The Winnebag substitute to the Cunningham bill providing for an additional surgical and medical department for crippled and deformed children at Sparta was also passed.

Minkley Jars 'Em

Thehouse took up Saturday's calendar this morning and succeeded in cleaning up the remainder of the week's business in short order.

The bill appropriating $4,450 for the expenses of the joint investigation committee was passed. Assemblyman Minkley asked for an explanation of this appropriation, and said that it seemed to him that the real "tax eaters" were not represented by the faction that certain parties were so prone to lay it to.

Cut Auto Fines

The bill introduced by the committee on judiciary cutting down the fine for violations of the automobile laws so that the cases could be handled in justice courts was given official sanction.

STEEL CASE NOT DROPPED

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Rumors that the government had dropped its Steel trust suit were denied today by the justice department, although a statement could not be obtained from the attorney general, who is out of town.

The TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

CLOTHES AND THE MAN

BY ELSA GRIMSHAW

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Waylands were at breakfast when Reddy Peters brought in the mail. The big bronzed cowpuncher handed the bag to Mr. Wayland, flashed an appreciative glance at pretty Rose, who was visiting the ranch, and then tramped away.

"Letter for you, Rose," said Uncle Dick, tossing a missive to his niece.

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil: Remove Them With the Othine Prescription

This preparation for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by O. T. Erhart or any druggist under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

"Looks as if it might be from that New York dude you're going to marry."

"Don't tease the child, Dick," protested Aunt Susan, with a glance at Rose's blushing face. "I'm sure Mr. Dixon is charming, and I am anxious to meet him. I'm tired of the very sight of sombreroes and spurred boots. I'd like to see a man dressed in civilized clothing once more!"

"Hear—hear!" gazed Uncle Dick, jingling his own spurred heels. "Keep your young man away from the Red Bar outfit, my dear, or your Aunt Susan will monopolize him."

Rose looked up. "She shall have a chance, very soon," she said slowly. "Burton writes that he will be here Thursday."

"That's tomorrow," cried Aunt Susan arising in a flutter. "I will have Ching Ling clean the spare room at once, and, Dick, do have Bob wash the buckboard and mend the russet harness. It's a disgrace!" She bustled out of the room and Rose, slowly folding her letter, was conscious of the half-humorous scrutiny of her uncle.

"You don't seem overjoyed at the prospect of meeting your sweetheart," said Uncle Dick.

"Why, Uncle Dick, I am; only—only—somehow, after being out here in the open, where the men are so big in every respect, big-minded and warm-hearted, it does seem as though Burton appeared a pigmy by comparison."

"Tut! Tut! chided the rancher seriously. "You mustn't let romantic ideas of the West run away with your common sense. These cowpunchers are all right, my dear. They average up like other men—they are no worse. For my part, I'm bored with the lonesomeness of the plains. I'm looking forward to meeting a cultivated man who can talk something save cattle and the weather!" He patted her shoulder as he passed out. Rose walked out to the veranda. Reddy Peters, a gallant form astride a huge sorrel horse, was dashing out through the gates. Her eyes followed him until he disappeared over a rise of ground.

What would all these laughing, carefree cowpunchers say to the immaculate Mr. Dixon of New York?

She wished desperately that something would prevent Burton from coming. She dreaded the ordeal of his visit. He shrank by comparison with these sons of the plains. If she had come here first, she told herself, she should not now be engaged to Dixon.

"One more day of freedom," she told herself as she mounted her buckskin pony, and, quite regardless of uncovered head and ungloved hands, rode out of the yard and away over the free hills.

"Won't Burton be shocked when he sees my tanned skin?" she laughed once when she paused breathlessly to rest in the scant shade of a wind-distorted cottonwood tree. "I am of the very 'tomboy' type he abhors!"

The next day Reddy Peters was delegated to drive over to the station for Mr. Dixon. Somehow the news had got about that the expected guest was the fiancée of their employer's niece, and his coming was awaited with interest by the dozen men in the Red Bar outfit.

"I expect he's some lily-fingered Willie boy," sneered Chappie Dill scornfully.

"We might teach him that East can't never be West, no matter how hard you try," suggested Liscum, who read Kipling, although he had never been to school in his adventurous life.

"I expect the boss wouldn't thank anybody for making a fool of his guest," snapped Abel Gray, the veteran of the ranch.

"I reckon Burtie boy can make a fool out of himself all right without any help," snickered Chappie. "I'm going to lend him Black Satan to ride."

"You better go moseying for another job right soon," muttered Abel. Chappie laughed scornfully and loped toward the corral.

Abel turned to the more serious Liscum. "Better keep your hands off him, Lis," he warned.

Liscum yawned and made no reply.

At the last moment Rose decided to accompany Reddy Peters, and, mounting Buckskin, she rode beside the wagon as it rumbled over the dusty trail to Pinto station.

Out of the corner of her violet eyes she caught glimpses of Reddy's huge form slouched over on the seat of the buckboard and she decided that he made a better appearance in the saddle.

The train from the East came thundering into Pinto station and thundered away again, leaving on the platform a well-dressed young man, tall and rather slimly built, with a decidedly good-looking face under his careless gray felt hat.

"Dolled up some," muttered Reddy as he noted Dixon's well-fitting gray Norfolk jacket. "You won't look much like a dude by the time I get back to the Red Bar," he added with a chuckle.

Burton Dixon may have felt surprised at sight of the sun-tanned face of his pretty sweetheart, but he expressed only a lover-like delight at seeing her again—a delight that found expression in a close clasp of her hands and a long look from his brown eyes.

Strange to say, Rose felt the old thrill of his presence, the magnetism that had first drawn her to him. She felt happy that he was here and her eyes shone softly as he handed her into the saddle and took his place beside Reddy Peters. Rose had introduced the two men and she had been relieved at the simplicity of her lover's greeting of the westerner. Dixon had simply offered a warm handshake and murmured something about the dusty roads. She knew that Reddy was dying to engage the easterner in conversation that would betray Dixon into some ridiculous position.

They had reached the four forks road when there came the clatter of hoofs behind, and five of the Red Bar cowboys came dashing toward them.

"Fire!" they yelled. "Fire—be—hind! Run, Reddy—beat it to the Red Bar or you're a goner!"

They flashed past and were tearing away in the distance. Reddy Peters cast a glance over his shoulder and whipped up the bay horses into a gallop. Over to the south there was a low-hanging, gray cloud and there was certainly an acrid smell of smoke in the air. It was oppressively hot.

Rose's horse kept pace with the wagon as it went rocking over the trail. Burton Dixon glanced over his shoulder once or twice, and each time he did so Reddy Peters grinned delightedly.

A mile farther on they overtook Chappie Dill, limping along with a sprained ankle.

"That pinto boss of mine threw me and cut loose for home," he groaned as he accepted Reddy's invitation and climbed into the rear of the buckboard. With this added weight the wagon made less progress, although Reddy lashed the horses into a mad gallop that developed into what looked like a runaway.

"Can't you control your horses?" shouted Dixon above the clatter of wheels.

"Not when they've broke loose this way," retorted Reddy, sawing away at the reins. "Don't worry, young feller, the ground around here is real soft and mellow. If you get spilled out it won't do more than shake you a bit."

"I'm not worrying over that," retorted Dixon contemptuously. "What amuses me is the fact that you're running away from nothing."

"Nothing?" echoed Reddy belligerently. "You consarned tenderfoot, the grass is afire back there!"

"Yes, but it's going the other way!" shouted back the easterner, rising in the rocking vehicle and bending over Reddy Peters. "Now, see here, Alkali Ike, you poor imitation of a dime-novel hero, I'll show you how to drive a team of horses!"

Thereupon Mr. Burton Dixon calmly snatched the reins from the powerful grasp of the astonished Mr. Reddy Peters, knocked the quickly drawn gun from that gentleman's brown fist, pulled the horses into a walk, tumbled Reddy into the sagebrush, and before he could rise again had thrown Chappie Dill on top of him.

With a word to the panting horses Dixon drove on, with a reassuring smile at Rose, who was crying from mingled indignation at the behavior of the cowboys and pride in her lover.

"Come along, Rosie," he said to her. "Remember, I've not had a kiss yet!"

"Just a moment, Burton," she cried, wheeling her pony and dashing back to where the two cowboys were limping along the trail behind them.

"Boys," she said with a charming smile as she rode up to them, "I should have warned you against playing tricks on Mr. Dixon. You see, he is a member of the forestry commission and he is an expert on forest and prairie fires, and he is a well-known horseman. I think you owe him an apology.

Reddy Peters and Chappie Dill looked ruefully at each other.

"It all goes to show," complained Reddy, "that you can't always judge a man by his clothes. Just tell the perfesser if he'll pull up that team we'll apologize handsome."

Tainted Money

AND THE SCHOOLS

Harpers reviews the Rockefeller fortune in its getting and its spending, and draws some interesting conclusions. It pays no compliment to the Oil King in this comment upon the getting:

Everybody knows that the Rockefeller fortune was accumulated by ways that were devious enough. Practices that were tolerated by the easier business morality of another generation have now become criminal as well as immoral. But money is power, no matter how it may have been got. And power is not to be ignored.

For the spending, the magazine finds real compensation, thus enumerating the more important achievements:

For a time there were indications that without making the confession of Zoroastrian anent restitution, the elder Rockefeller was minded to "re-store forthrightly." There came the Rockefeller Foundation, which has done great things for the stricken peoples of Europe; the Rockefeller Institute which is doing a most beneficent work in the study of disease and their remedies; the Rockefeller Education Board which has been a stimulus to the cause of education; the Agricultural Demonstration Work, a valuable and statesmanlike job.

But Harper's is dubious about any real good coming out of expenditures from funds hoarded by big business that thrives by crushing and dominating, that makes prices without regard for the legitimate influences which under normal conditions shape the course of trade. Says Mr. Harpwood:

With all this, there were many who found themselves unable to ignore either the fact that many soiled millions had been poured into the pot from which is skimmed the money for these enterprises, or the conviction that underneath there was still mental warp and diseased moral fibre.

There has come now further revelation of the Rockefeller attitude toward the Colorado coal strike. In his testimony before the congressional committee more than a year ago, Rockefeller, Jr., declared himself ignorant of the facts which had become common knowledge, justifying his position by the statement, many times repeated, that as a director he was concerned with the selection of the best executive officers possible and trusted them to do the right and the wise thing. But the correspondence just produced before the Industrial Relations commission shows in what measure and what manner he lied. One of the complaints frequently paid young Rockefeller is that, as a witness, he is "as smooth as his father." This may be an attainment of no mean proportions. If so, then so much more important is the fact that in spite of this smoothness, in spite of sly hypocrisy, in spite of his strained efforts to close his eyes to all save reports of his agents, it is no longer possible for him to shift responsibility upon them even if his theory of a director's responsibility were justifiable.

So, the stream is muddied at its source. And there is the pity of it. From the same pile of dollars goes the power that brings bread to Belgium—and organizes a Troop A and drives it to a Ludlow massacre; that counts down the infant toll of spinal meningitis—and murders a lad in Colorado; that ministers to wounded foreign soldiers—and denies compensation to injured miners; that enriches the southern farmer and cheats and robs the western wage-earner; that gives to education—and engineers debauchery of a state government, "whips a governor into line" and makes a mockery of courts and justice.

Over against and overshadowing the power of money is the might of ideas. Among millions of workingmen there is a growing hatred and a conviction that Rockefeller benevolence is hypocrisy and sham. Steadily it is becoming more apparent that it is the power for good of an enormous accumulation of wealth is not to be utterly destroyed, these portents must be heeded.

The University of Chicago will never have any academic freedom, for the influence of Rockefeller will color its teachings. While there is no financial analogy, that same influence is seeking to control the schools of Wisconsin from the primary grades to the university. In the proposed central board we have the machinery through which the texts of the schools, their practices and precepts, might yield to the domination of men who think in terms of money and class advantage. Think of a teacher of political science or sociology in Wisconsin who could find excuses for Ludlow!

CHEATING SCHOOL

ENUMERATORS COSTLY

Enumerators who are taking the school census have discovered an apparently widespread aversion to giving them the information they are authorized to gather.

Hostility to the census takers' mission must spring from ignorance of its purpose, for there is nothing contemplated by their duties which does not work out to the advantage of the city and the individual taxpayer.

It should be understood that the census-takers are inquiring the number of persons between the ages of 4 and 20, not for the purpose of forcing those to go to school who are past sixteen, or who for other reasons do not wish to attend, but to ascertain the number of people of school age for whom the city is entitled to receive state aid.

The city of La Crosse spends a great deal each year on its schools. For each person of school age—whether in school or not makes no difference—the city is entitled to about $5.20 from the state funds to help pay the big bill. Persons who mislead the enumerator in regard to the number of residents of school age in their homes are adding their share of $5.20 to the taxes they must pay next year for every youth whose existence is thus concealed.

Mrs. Brown-Jones—Mrs. Smith is opposing your nomination bitterly. Can't you conciliate her in any way?

Mrs. Jones—It is impossible. Twenty-four years ago I said that her baby was small for its age.

The Morning Glory

Up it sprang from the soft dark earth,

The morning glory vine,

Higher and higher, brave and green,

With many a twist and twine,

Bird and butterfly wheeled to see,

And children stopped, a row,

To point with rosy fingers sweet,

And watch the blossoms grow.

Purple and crimson, white and blue,

Out from the lightsome green,

They swing and rustle, the dainty bells,

Their sheltering leaves between.

Low by the grass and high by the roof,

And beautiful all the way:

"And the prettiest flowers grow highest up."

The children wisely say.

Wise Old Charlie

Two ladies who contended for precedence at the court of the Emperor Charles V. appealed to that monarch to decide which one was entitled to the honor. "Let the elder go first," said the emperor. He was never troubled with such dispute again.

Same Old Destination

A former member of the Kentucky legislature, now engaged in the practice of law in Louisville, tells of the time that the question of permitting osteopaths to practice was mooted one in the legislative body. There were arguments pro and con until the speech of a mountaineer statesman did much toward settling the question. Obtaining recognition, he spoke somewhat as follows: "I'm in favor of letting those osteopaths practice. The homeopaths practice, the allopaths practice. All the other 'paths practice. And, after all, we may do well to remember that, as the poet says, the paths all lead but to the grave."

What He Disliked

"No," said the man who was shot in the head by his friend while they were out shooting, lost the greater part of an ear and was scratched considerably, "I don't mind the wounds so much, but it breaks my heart to have my head mistaken by my most intimate friend for a rabbit."

It's Right Now, However

When Sir Edward Elgar, the noted composer, was quite a small boy he made a curious prophecy about himself. On making his first appearance at school the master asked him his name.

"Edward Elgar," he replied.

The master thought that the boy spoke brusquely.

"Add the word 'sir'!" he commanded.

"Sir Edward Elgar!" said the future.

INHERITED NERVOUSNESS

The causes of nervous disorders are of two kinds, predisposing and exciting. Heredity is a predisposing cause. A nervous parent is very liable to have a nervous child. But even with this predisposition the child will not necessarily develop any form of nervous disease without an exciting cause. It may not develop during childhood at all but throughout life a person with an inherited predisposition to nervousness is an easier victim of all forms of nervous disorders than one without it.

Worry, overwork, overstudy and excesses of all kinds are exciting causes and should be avoided by those who know themselves to have inherited a nervous disposition. Thin blood and a general run-down condition of the system are also to be avoided by such people. Be moderate in everything, avoid worry, keep the blood rich and red and the general health built up with a non-alcoholic tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and avoid a nervous breakdown.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a general tonic with a special action on the nerves and relieve and correct many forms of nervous trouble. Your own druggist sells them. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet, "Nervous Disorders, A Method of Home Treatment."

NATURE'S CREATION
CONQUERS ASTHMA

A Little over two years ago, Mrs. C. M. Benjamin, of Shoals, Ind., was attacked by asthma. This continued until February, 1914, when she was unable to do any work. "I did not have any appetite," she writes, "I couldn't sleep at nights or get my breath unless I was propped up in bed. I then began taking Nature's Creation and in one week's time I was better. I am now fully cured of asthma. I firmly believe Nature's Creation will cure any kind of bronchial or lung trouble."

Nature's Creation relieves tuberculosis and conditions leading to it, such as weak lungs, asthma, catarrh, bronchitis, impure blood or rundown system.

Mrs. Benjamin is only one of hundreds upon hundreds of letters in praise of this remarkable remedy that are voluntarily sent us.

Everyone should learn the truth about this remedy, which we will gladly furnish. Write for a copy of our new booklet, "Truth," containing photos and testimonials of former sufferers. Address Elmer Haenlein, 32 Sentinel Bldg., Milwaukee, Wis. Nature's Creation is not a patent medicine and is not sold in drug stores. Beware of substitutes—demand the original and genuine Nature's Creation. Watch for Nature's Creation testimonials, which will appear in this paper every Friday.

Stamped With the Grave

The stone mason was on the witness stand describing the way in which he had been assaulted by the defendant. "He walked right into my yard," the witness said, "and slammed me up against one of my own tombstones."

"Did he hurt you?" inquired the court.

"Hurt me! Why I've got 'Sacred to the memory' stamped all down my back."

Only One Condition

It is probable that many queens of the kitchen share the sentiment good naturedly expressed by a domestic recently taken into the service of a young matron of Chicago.

"Now Lena," she asked earnestly, "are you a good cook?"

The youthful assumer of household care was disposed to be a trifle patronizing. "Yes-as-m," said the girl, with perfect naivete, "if you will not try to help me."

LOVE

A COMEDY ROMANCE

By Earl Derr Biggers

Author of Seven Keys to Baldpate.

Copyrighted The Bobbs-Merrill Co.

Suddenly Mr. Stacy's head took another tilt downward, and his Panama hat slipped off to the veranda floor. To the gaze of Mr. Minot, above, there was revealed a bald pate extensive and gleaming. The habitual smile fled from Minot's face. A feeling of impotent anger filled his soul. For a bald head could recall but one thing—Jephson.

He strode from the window, savagely kicking an innocent suit-case that got in his way. What mean trick was this fate had played him as he entered San Marco? To show to him the one girl in all her glory and sweetness, to thrill him through and through with his discovery—and then to send the girl scurrying off to announce her engagement to another man! Scurvy, he called it. But scurvier still, that it should be the very engagement he had hastened to San Marco to bring to its proper close—"I do," and Mendelssohn.

He sat gloomily down on the bed. What could he do? What save keep his word, given on the seventeenth floor of an office building in New York? No man had yet had reason to question the good faith of a Minot. His dead father, at the beginning of his career, had sacrificed his fortune to keep his word, and gone back with a smile to begin all over again. What could he do?

Nothing, save grit his teeth and see the thing through. He made up his mind to this as he bathed and shaved, and prepared himself for his debut in San Marco. So that, when he finally left the hotel and stepped out into San Sebastian Avenue, he was cheerful with a dogged, boy-stood-on-the-burning-deck cheerfulness.

A dozen negroes, their smiles reminiscent of tooth powder advertisements, vainly sought to cajole him into their shabby vehicles. With difficulty he avoided their pleas, and strolled down San Marco's main thoroughfare. On every side clever shopkeepers spread the net for the eagle on the dollar. Jewelers' shops flashed, modistes hinted, milliners begged to present their latest creations.

He came presently to a narrow cross street, where humbler merchants catered to the Conny instinct that lurks in even the most affluent of tourists. There gaudy souvenir stores abounded. The ugly and inevitable alligator, fallen from his proud estate to fireside slipper, wallet, cigar case, umbrella stand, photograph album and Lord-knows-what, was head-lined in this street. Picture post-cards hung in flocks, tin-type galleries besought, newstands, soda-water fountains and cheap boarding-houses stood side by side. And, every few feet, Mr. Minot came upon "The Oldest House in San Marco."

On his way back to the hotel, in front of one of the more dazzling modiste's shops, he saw a limousine drawn up to the curb, and in it Jack Paddock, friend of his college days. Paddock leaped lightly from the machine and grasped Dick Minot by the hand.

"You here?" he cried.

"Foolish question," commented Mr. Minot.

"Yes, I know," said Mr. Paddock. "Been here so long my brain's a little flabby. But I'm glad to see you, old man."

"Same here," Mr. Minot stared at the car. "I say, Jack, did you earn that writing fiction?"

Paddock laughed.

"I'm not writing much fiction now," he replied. "The car belongs to Mrs. Helen Bruce, the wittiest hostess in San Marco." He came closer. "My boy," he confided, "I have struck something essentially soft. Some time soon, in a room with all the doors and windows closed and the weather-strips in place, I'll whisper it to you. I've been dying to tell somebody."

"And the car?"

"Part of the graft, Dick. Here comes Mrs. Bruce now. Did I mention she was the wittiest—of course I did. Want to meet her? Well, later then. You're at the Pax, I suppose. See you there."

Mr. Minot moved on from the immensity of Mrs. Bruce. A moment later the limousine sped by him. One seat was generously filled by the

Mysteries of Rheumatism
Practically Solved

Action in the Tissues of a Remarkable Antidote

S. S. S. is a Regular Wizard in Driving Out Rheumatism.

Rheumatism is often the effect of some other blood affliction that has left its impress in the joints, muscles and mucous coverings of the body. It works into the tissue cells, those tiny, little bodies in which nutrition goes on. And it is here that a most remarkable medicine known as S. S. S. does its most active and most effective work.

Its action is marvelous. Bed-ridden rheumatics get on their feet as if by magic. That cold, clammy sensation that made you hug a red hot stove is gone in a twinkling. That excruciating pain that made a feather lay as heavy as a ton of coal on the skin is gone. You get up and dance with glee.

Your rheumatism is gone—absolutely! It is an actual logical fact, that Swift's Sure Specific flushes your blood, gives your entire blood circulation a fine thorough bath. It just naturally and in a twinkling irrigates every atom in your body. It rushes into every cell, crosses every bone, muscle, ligament, tendon, mucous surface and every nerve to thrill with freedom, with health, with new-found springiness.

And best of all, S. S. S. though a powerful searching, overwhelming enemy to pain and the causes of rheumatism is as pure as the dew on a peach blossom, as powerful as the heroic works of nature, as searching as the peremptory demand of the most exact science.

Ask for and insist upon getting S. S. S., the world's cure for rheumatism.

For private, personal advice on stubborn chronic rheumatism write at once to the Swift Specific Co., 203 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga. Their medical department is famous on all blood diseases, and is equipped to make personal blood tests, approved by the highest medical authorities. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today. Then away goes rheumatism for all time.

wittiest hostess in San Marco. Seated opposite her, Mr. Paddock waved an airy hand. Life had always been the gayest of jokes to Mr. Paddock.

Life was at the moment quite the opposite to Dick Minot. He devoted the next hour to sad introspection in the lobby. It was not until he was on his way in to dinner that he again saw Cynthia Meyrick. Then, just outside the dining-room door, he encountered her, still all white, lovelier than ever, in her cheek a flush of excitement no doubt put there by the most important luncheon of her life. He waited for her to recognize him—and he did not wait a vain.

"Ah, Mr. Minot."

"Of course. In the hurry of this noon I quite overlooked an introduction. I am—"

"Miss Cynthia Meyrick. I happen to know because I met his lordship in New York. May I ask—was the luncheon—"

"Quite without a flaw. So you know Lord Harrowby?"

"Er—slightly. May I offer my very best wishes?"

"So good of you."

Formal, formal, formal. Was that how it must be between them hereafter? Well, it was better so. Miss Meyrick presented her father and her aunt, and that did not tend to lighten the formality. Icicles, both of them, though stocky puffing icicles. Aunt inquired if Mr. Minot was related to the Minots of Detroit, and when he failed to qualify, at once lost all interest in him. Old Spencer Meyrick did not accord him even that much attention.

Yet—all was not formal, as it happened. For as Cynthia Meyrick moved away, she whispered: "must see you after dinner—on important business." And her smile as she said it made Minot's own lonely dinner quite cheery.

At seven in the evening the hotel orchestra gathered in the lobby for its nightly concert, and after the way of orchestras, it was almost ready to begin when Minot left the dining-room at eight. Sitting primly in straight backed chairs, an audience gathered for the most part from the more inexpensive hosteleries waited patiently. Presumably these people were there for an hour with music, lovely maid. But it was the growls of more material maids that interested the greatest number of them, and many drab little women sat making furtive mental notes that should while away the hours conversationally when they got back to Akron or Terre Haute.

OFFICIALS TAKE FIRST CAR OVER THE NEW BRIDGE

Peter Valier and Charles Nordengren Are "Crew" of Number Fifty to Open Viaduct

Peter Valier, president, and Charles Nordengren, track foreman, of the street railway company, gave the people of the north side an exhibition of how they used to "run 'em" in the old days, when they took the first car over the new viaduct, their run extending from St. Cloud street to the southern end of the big cement structure. They pulled their car, No. 50, over the viaduct at precisely 6:50 o'clock last night.

As the famous crew stepped from their car with a "just like that" air, Motorman John Blaschke and Conductor Bert Lucas took the first regular car over the hill. This car was southbound. The initial northbound car to pass over was in charge of Motorman MacGregor and Conductor Tom Daly.

George Flynn, Charles Harder, Adolph Noem and F. J. Zemlick were the first passengers to cross.

Regular traffic was started over the viaduct today.

NORTH SIDE BAND WILL GIVE CONCERT IN PARK WEDNESDAY

Combined Concert and Ice Cream Social Will be Held to Raise Money to Purchase Instruments for Corps

The first of a series of band concerts to be given by the north side band will be given on Wednesday night of next week. An ice cream social will be held in connection with the musical program, which is to consist of compositions by a number of the foremost composers of the world. The concert begins at 7 o'clock.

The proceeds of the social will be used to purchase new instruments for the added membership of the organization. At present the band numbers twenty-eight men, with prospects for an increase to thirty-five.

Patrons of the band concert and social are assured of plenty of seats, as more than fifty benches will be placed in the park. Beside the benches there will be a large number of tables and 200 chairs.

row, a railway center 32 miles south-east of Lemberg.
"Part of Gen. Von Linsingen's army has withdrawn to the south bank of the Dniester, northwest of Halicz," the war office admitted, but further up the river the German attacks continue to make progress.
"We have evacuated the village of Kopaczyska. West of Stegowa we have conquered a part of the enemy's lines. The situation around Lemberg, where the Russian Marshal Mackensen's armies are operating is unchanged."
The war office declared that all Anglo-French attacks in the western war theater in the last twenty-four hours have been repulsed.

JUDGE H. W. CALVERT AND FAMILY HERE
Former La Crosse Boy Now Cleveland Judge and His Party Motor from Cleveland in 18 Days
It was a cheerful automobile party that ran over from Cleveland to La Crosse yesterday to drop in on friends here, and the tan of fair weather and open air made the pleasant face and alert eyes of brisk and vigorous H. M. Calvert reflect the bronze of the outer.

With Judge Calvert, son of the late Robert Calvert, came Mrs. Calvert, Miss Margaret Farnam, Miss Alice Smith of Sleepy Eye, Minn., both of whom are teachers in the college at Athens, Ohio, and Robert Farnam, now a student in the college at Easton, Pa.

But one relief sprinkle of rain was encountered on the journey, and good roads made the traveling pleasant until certain portions of Wisconsin were reached. They made 263 miles the first day out, and reached La Crosse in eighteen days.
Monday Judge Calvert and family will motor to Minneapolis, where they will spend a few days, after which they will return for a visit with friends here.

SALE OF WHITE GOODS INCREASED

CHICAGO, June 25.—The John V. Farwell weekly review of trade tomorrow will say: "Notwithstanding the unseasonable weather white goods sales are running ahead of last season. The increase in white goods is largely due to the dye situation brought about by the European war. 'White lace goods and seed voiles lead in the white goods line with lace plaques, suitings, lawns, gabardines and lineaweave fabrics are selling freely. White silks—especially messalines and corduroy and golfline fabrics are active."
"Wool remains firm with the highest prices prevailing. For early fall black and white effects in wool dress goods are in large demand."
"The glove business for fall is very good and there is a brisk demand for painted draperies, especially cretonnes."

ENTERTAINMENT ON EDWARDS' LAWN

The Florence Nightingale section of the Harvest club, consisting of a number of young girls, assisted by small children, will give the little playlet, "Hansel and Gretel," this evening on the lawn of E. O. Edwards, 1404 Cass street, Miss Eleanor Edwards, who has remarkable talent in this line, has spent considerable time in coaching the children. Miss June Rowilson will act as stage prompter and Carlos Rowilson is general manager. An orchestra consisting of Miss Hazel Bentley at the piano; Eleanor Sanford, violin, and Ted Edwards, mandolin, will furnish music for the entertainment. The lawn has been appropriately staged with all of the necessary accessories. There are thirty-one in the cast, consisting of angles, wood sprites, dawn fairies and others.
The proceeds of the affair will go entirely to making some poor family comfortable and happy. This is only one of the little entertainments which these young people have given in the past year.

The usher for this evening will be Elizabeth Whipple, Betty Hixon, and Donald Gordon. Elizabeth Norbeck is mistress of the wardrobe.
The play will begin at 7 o'clock.

FIGHT WITH FIRE PROGRESSES ALONG WESTERN FRONT

Germans Attack Violently
Using Gas Bombs and Liquid Fire on the French Trenches

PARIS, June 25.—With fiery liquids and asphyxiating bombs, the Germans are violently attacking the French trenches on the Meuse Heights near Catonne. The battle raged all day yesterday and at midnight the enemy re-attacked in large force.

The first onslaught drove the French from a row of trenches they captured from the Germans several days ago. The French troops retiring in good order when their positions were sprayed with liquid flame. Immediately afterward a counter-attack threw the enemy out of the works and they fled.

At midnight the attack was resumed by large bodies of enemy troops. The French lighted up the ground before their positions with illuminating bombs and searchlights and turned a score of machine guns on the charging columns. The Germans were caught under a deadly cross-fire and retreated with heavy losses.

An official communique from the war office this afternoon reported that two German attacks along the Lorraine frontier were repulsed.

PREPARATORY SERVICES

Preparatory service will be held at the First Presbyterian church this evening by Rev. D. C. Jones. Members of the church and those who are to join the church at the communion service Sunday afternoon are expected to be present tonight. At the close of the service this evening a meeting of the sessions will be held.

DOUBLE P. O. PLATFORM

Contractors today started work on enlargement of the rear wagon platform at the postoffice. The platform was found inadequate for loading and unloading mail when parcel post business began to grow and the post-office department decided to enlarge it to twice its former size.

Annuity

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., June 25.—Captain Joseph Dionne, chief of the local life-saving station, today received notice that he had been granted a pension, and he probably will be retired July 1 on three-fourths his present salary. He will be succeeded by Capt. Stebbins of the Beaver Island station.

Capt. Dionne, who is the oldest lifesaver on the Great Lakes in point of service, entered the service at the Chicago station in 1881. He was transferred to the Sturgeon Bay station in 1883 as surfman and was promoted to chief of that section six years later. In 1892 he was transferred to Two Rivers, where he remained until placed in charge at Sheboygan in 1903. He is 60 years old.

needed them. That event alone proved that La Crosse was behind us."

Aerie Thanks City
Proclaiming the twelfth annual Wisconsin Eagles' convention, just closed, an "unbounded success," delegates from all parts of the state in the final business session of the convention yesterday made known their appreciation by a rising vote of thanks.

The efforts of Mayor A. A. Bentley, Secretary C. A. Dittman and the press of La Crosse to make the convention a memorable one were especially commended.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the pulse of good fellowship and hearty welcome which was extended to us by his honor, Mayor A. A. Bentley of La Crosse, at the threshold of this beautiful city and which sentiment and good cheer has prevailed during our short stay, has attached us to its citizens by the everlasting tie of fond recollection, and

"Whereas, the citizens of La Crosse, by their untiring effort and generous hospitality which was not only shown in so liberally contributing automobiles for the viewing by the delegates of the many beautiful sites and numerous large industries of their city of which the grand old Father of Waters marks its western boundary as well as that of our great and glorious state, and

"Whereas, the press of the state, and particularly the newspapers of the city of La Crosse, have done much toward the success of this convention by the freedom of their columns, and

"Whereas, owing to the special efforts of the members of La Crosse aerie No. 1254 and particularly to the enthusiasm and untiring efforts of C. A. Dittman and the various committees on arrangements, this convention has been such an unbounded success and every delegate and visiting member of our order has been benefited and royally entertained, and

"Whereas, the officers of the state aerie have efficiently and economically administered the duties of their respective offices, and

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that a rising vote of thanks be extended to his honor the mayor of La Crosse, its citizens, the press, the members of La Crosse aerie No. 1254 and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the secretary, to his honor the mayor and to the press for publication.

"Respectfully submitted,
"CARL RUNGE,
"M. H. NIESEN,
"J. GEISMANN."

LOCAL SINGERS IN ILL. CHAUTAUQUA

The Carroll College Quartet, three of whom are La Crosse young men, are billed to do chautauqua work this summer. They will be heard at Savanna and other points in Illinois.

In addition to their vocal entertainment, they are introducing a pleasing instrumental feature—a quartet of saxophones.

The quartet includes Burleigh E. Jacobs, first tenor and pianist; Earl A. Lockman, second tenor and manager; John S. Otten, first bass and reader; Russell E. Oakes, second bass.

The last three named are well-known La Crosse boys. Together with Edgar Best they organized the Wesley Male Quartet, prior to their entrance into Carroll college at Waukesha. Mr. Best later left the school, when the present quartet was organized.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO GRADUATE A CLASS OF SIX STUDENTS

High School Will Have Second Commencement Exercises at End of Extra Session

COMPLETE WORK AHEAD OF CLASS

Half a Dozen Students Will Have Enough Credits for Graduation Before
Fall

La Crosse high school will have a second commencement day this summer. Six students now at work in the summer school will receive diplomas at the end of the extra session. They will have gathered, at the end of that time, sufficient credits for graduation ahead of their classes.

The six are Adeline Preutz, Mary Murphy, Elfrida Nygaard, Fred Millington, Reuben Andereg, and Grace McHugh. Miss McHugh is completing her high school course in three years.

The commencement exercises will be held the latter part of July or the first of August.

Big Success
One grand success is the verdict of Principal McCormick of the High School, and his assistants in charge of the summer school. La Crosse is the pioneer in establishing an all-year round school. It is generally accepted among the prominent educators of the country that within a short time, ten years at the most, practically all the high schools of the country will have adopted the summer school plan. People are realizing more and more that the long summer vacation is one of the greatest economic losses to the community.

At the conclusion of the regular school year in June, 271 students had signified their intention of attending the summer schools. When the first classes were called, there were seventeen more who desired to enroll, bringing the total up to 288. By next week it is expected that the 300 mark will have been reached, which, with the 1250 enrolled in the grade schools, will make an aggregate of more than 1500 taking advantage of the plan, removing all doubt as to the aversion of the boys and girls of La Crosse to attend school eleven months of the year.

Study Anywhere
Only one session is held, beginning at 7:45 a. m., with periods one hour in length. Classes are arranged so that the earlier periods are given to the upper-classesmen, the underclassmen receiving instruction later in the forenoon. Of the 288 students enrolled, thirty are freshmen, having just completed the grade school course. The students come in time for classes, doing their preparation wherever convenient. They can be seen studying along the streets, boulevards, and some even go to the shady spots of Grandd bluff to extract the truths as expounded by the prominent educators.

Classes are held in English, Mathematics, Physics, Ancient History, Latin, Shorthand and Bookkeeping. The faculty includes Mr. McCormick, Miss Heldeman, Mr. Butler, Mr. Leach, Miss Hektoen, all of the regular faculty; Miss Mary Nelson, Miss Ada Streeter and Miss Bessie Torrance.

Charles Pepper Arrested on French Island for Attention to Little Girls After Hurry Call Starts Murder Rumor

Charles Pepper is held in central police station today, awaiting probable examination as to his sanity, following alleged suspicious attentions to two little girls on the north side. Police arrested him late yesterday on French Island.

The case started a rumor of a double murder on the island which brought the police car to the scene in a hurry and attracted many people to the scene of the supposed crime. It developed that the hurry call for the police had been turned in by a man who saw Pepper and the two children on the bridge leading to the island.

SIXTIETH TWIN WEDDING DATE IS OBSERVED THURSDAY

John Mulder took an automobile party to North Bend Thursday afternoon to attend the 60th wedding anniversary of Mrs. H. Clark and Mrs. H. Westeraus. They are twin sisters. Those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. O. Terpstra, Mr. and Mrs. W. Terpstra, Mr. and Mrs. G. Westeraus, and John Mulder. Eleven of their children were present to attend the anniversary.

ELEVENTH BIRTHDAY PARTY

Master Alden Mulder, son of John Mulder, north side, celebrated his eleventh birthday yesterday. Tonight he will entertain a party of twelve of his young friends at an auto ride to West Salem. At their return, refreshments will be served at the Mulder home, 822 Rose street.

SURPRISED BY ANNOUNCEMENT

Miss Lucile Schleiter today expressed considerable surprise at the announcement of her engagement to "Myron L. Le Page of Duluth," which was printed yesterday on telephoned information. Miss Schleiter declared herself to be unacquainted with "Myron Le Page."

ITALIAN KING MAY GIVE DECORATION FOR TAKING FLAG

ROME, June 25.—King Victor Emmanuel probably will decorate an Italian infantryman who captured the first Austrian standard since the beginning of the war in the fierce fighting around Piava.

The Italian engaged in an encounter with the Austrian flag bearer. He was stabbed in the head, but finally killed his adversary and returned to the Italian lines with the enemy flag.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

U. S. DEPARTMENT TELLS HOW TO RID LAWNS OF ANTS

Kerosene Emulsion or Soap Wash May Be Used Although Ants Do Little Damage

WASHINGTON, June 25.—An unusual number of complaints have been received this year by the department of agriculture from persons who say that ants are injuring their lawns and gardens. As a matter of fact, these ants do little harm and the injury that attributed to them is usually caused by something else. In large numbers, however, the small conical nests which they build on lawns are somewhat unsightly and on this account it may be desirable in some cases to destroy them.

Where there is only a small area to be covered the simplest method is to drench the nests with boiling water. Another simple remedy is to spray the lawn with kerosene emulsion or with a very strong soap wash prepared by dissolving any common laundry soap in water at the rate of 1 pound or 1/2 pound to a gallon of water. Such methods are particularly well adapted to small lawns and for the ordinary little lawn ant.

For larger ant colonies of other species, bisulphide of carbon, a chemical which can be purchased at any drug store, will be found effective. This substance can be placed in the nest by means of an oil can or small syringe, the quantity required varying from 1/4 ounce for a small nest and 2 to 3 ounces or more for a large one. An oil can with a long spout is a convenient instrument as it can be inserted into the nests and the liquid injected without its being brought close to the operator's nose. For the fumes of bisulphide of carbon although not poisonous, are nauseating.

To facilitate the entrance into the nest of the chemical, the ant hole can be enlarged with a sharp stick or iron rod. After the bisulphide of carbon has been injected, the opening should be closed by pressure of the foot in order to retain the bisulphide. This will penetrate slowly throughout the underground channels of the nest and kill all the inmates. It is important to remember that while bisulphide is perfectly harmless if kept away from all fire, it is very inflammable and may, under certain circumstances, explode when ignited.

Except for the unsightly appearance of their nests, however, the lawn ants do no appreciable harm. They are frequently noted on roses and on other ornamental and garden plants, and it is naturally supposed that they are doing harm to these. As a matter of fact, it is not the plants that attract the ants, but plant lice. These tiny creatures excrete a sweet liquid of which ants are very fond and which they collect without injuring the plant lice. For this reason plant lice are frequently termed "ant cows." The analogy is emphasized by the fact that ants have been known to take plant lice into their nests, shelter them through the winter, and return them to suitable plants in the spring very much as men are accustomed to feed and shelter cows throughout the winter, putting them on pasture with the coming of the spring. This is the only way in which ants can be said to injure plants. They enter houses very rarely and, on the whole, may be said to do no harm of any kind except in so far as they lessen the attractive appearance of the lawn. On the other hand, it is quite possible that by bringing up from the lower depths sand and earth they may distinctly increase fertility by forming a top dressing or soil mulch, and at the same time permit better aeration of the earth.

"Whys" of Moves in European War

(By J. W. T. MASON)

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, June 25.—British labor has received its ultimatum. David Lloyd-George, England's great democrat, has delivered the warning. In seven days' time—that is, by July 1—the workmen of the United Kingdom must voluntarily submit to industrial discipline or military regulations shall be enforced on them.

For the first time since the war began, it can be said with assurance that England is waking up. The organization of industries is now inevitable on a basis commensurate with the vast demands of continental conflict. For four months' persuasion has been tried, according to England's immemorial custom, and now the time for compulsion has arrived. But, it is to be democratic compulsion. The most radical member of the government, the man who owes his public reputation entirely to his devotion to popular causes is to enforce discipline upon the workers.

Throughout the storm which has raged in industrial England since last winter, Lloyd-George has kept his head, and his determination has grown stronger as the opposition to him increased. Now, like the able political strategist that he is, he has seized upon the collapse of the Russian offensive in Galicia and has frightened England into letting him have his way. Future historians may, indeed, date the awakening of England from the time of Field Marshal von Mackenzen's drive across Galicia.

A sobered England is emerging from the muddle of the past. Lloyd-George has secured the introduction of a bill in parliament empowering himself as minister of munitions to do those very things which British labor sought to prevent by undermining the authority of the minister's office. Until this measure becomes law, which it will by July 1, both employees and employers are given seven days' grace in which voluntarily to adjust their differences.

Thus July 1 is the mark of the beginning of England's recovery. Thence forward England's final testing will be apparent to the world, as democracy struggles to obtain those advantages which the war has shown to belong to Germany's system of military autocracy.

BANKERS CLOSE CONVENTION

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., June 25.—Following the address by Benjamin Armstrong, Jr., governor of the New York federal reserve bank, before the delegates to the twenty-second annual convention of the New York State Bankers' association here today there was considerable discussion of the operation of the federal reserve act. Many questions were asked by the bankers.

The bankers closed their business session in the morning and this afternoon took a trip around St. George in a special boat. The annual banquet will close the convention this evening.

India Ink.

In both India and China there are thousands of people who manufacture India ink as a side line to their regular business, working at it in the winter at night and on days when they are not otherwise employed. It is made by burning some kind of oil in a lamp with a very long chimney, usually made in joints which can be taken apart for greater convenience in cleaning out the soot which makes the ink. Almost any kind of vegetable oil will answer, and in districts where petroleum is found even coal oil is used in making the cheaper grades. The best kind is made from sesame oil.—Argonaut.

CREWS BEGIN TO TAPER OFF FOR BIG HUDSON RACE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 25.

—The intercollegiate crews who will clash here June 28 apparently started their tapering off process today. None of them got in the water till late this morning, but after Columbia's oarsmen dipped their paddles in, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Stanford and Syracuse followed and rowed leisurely down the course. Coach Jim Rice later shot his men through a time trial.

Old regatta fans who have been watching the crews all week, expressed surprise today at the showing of Stanford. Many of them predicted the Californians are due to give Columbia tight battle for first honors.

CRETONNE MAKES BOW TO FASHION

Material Once Confined to Upholstering Comes Out in Ladies' Costumes

Is that an old armchair I see Parading down the street Dressed in its summer cretonne slip? Well really I'll be beat! If it's not Mrs. Robert Brown In cretonne hat and cretonne gown. She's quite the smartest thing in town So tear your cretonne draperies down And make them into garments gay. 'Tis fashion's new decree That all who bow beneath her sway Must very chintzy be.

(By MARGARET MASON) (Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, June 25.—Fashion is going to give us the slip this summer. At least she will make us look as much as possible like the cretonne slip on the wing chair and the family davenport. Gay flowered chintz and cretonne is being used in prodigal profusion not only to trim summer frocks but to create them entirely. Perky little short jackets of bright cretonne are putting the little silken jackets out of business as popular accessories of the summer toilette to be worn with filmy lingerie frock. Floppy garden hats, trim sport hats and artistic picture hats are all successfully fashioned from the stuff that window curtains and bedspreads are made from.

Parasols of cretonne bloom with gay plumaged birds and cabbage sized flowers and gate topped bags of chintz add yet another item to its many sartorial uses. Even our young and our automobiles are not safe from this cretonne epidemic and bonnets, aprons and tiny cretonne baskets to match are offered as a complete beach outfit for the small kiddie while the most up-to-date motors are being upholstered for the summer season in smart black and white block and striped cretonnes and even in floral and bird designs on black or grey backgrounds. Some low and vulgar punster might even go so far as to accuse Madame La Mode of having the chintz bug but far be it from me.

Use Fringes. While in the upholstery and drapery department snooping around for ideas fashion has also seized upon silk and metal fringe as a trimming novelty. On both hats and frocks she is using it with a lavish hand. Silk fringe in all colors is used for the entire crown of a hat whose brim is made of velvet. White silk fringe particularly is effective to make these soft and fluffy fringe crowns while the metallic fringe in gold or silver is used more extensively to edge the velvet brims of the newest midsummer chapeaux. Usually the trimming on these hats with metal fringe edged brims is a single tassel of the same metal. The hats with silk fringe crowns also have a penchant for tassel trimming and often the tassel finishes a scarf that knots around the crown and drops its tasseled end gracefully to the wearer's shoulder.

As a dress trimming the short silk and metallic fringe are most effective trims, especially edging the short jackets and high water full skirts of the crisp taffeta dresses. Parasols and bags edged and trimmed with silk fringe to match follow closely on the fringe fashion. Even veils have fringe borders and though you may sniff and turn up your nose at them you are bound to be carrying a fringed handkerchief soon for they certainly are up to snuff.

Jewelry Realm Invaded. Fringe has even invaded the jewelry realm and pendant earrings of scintillating golden fringe, necklaces of fourteen karat fringe and gold bar corsage pins, fringe edged, are lovely nestling in the filmy froth of summer fabrics.

When the tired business man comes home these nights he's going to have an awful time to tell his wife from the cook, that is of course if he's lucky enough to have both. The way all the smartest frocks are affecting little aprons of organdie and Paris muslin to match up their neck frills and cuffs Milady and Milady's maid will soon be able to do a sister act.

The apron effects are very bewitching though and add just the last quaint touch to a demure little dress of grey or old blue crepe de chine with Quaker collar and cuffs of white organdie. A mustard yellow frock of pussy willow or an old rose of Georgetowne make lovely backgrounds for the frilly froth of a lace trimmed apron panel of white net and a fichu to match and the result is so youthful that the wearer looks not like a maid but a maiden.

RAILROADS WANT RATE INCREASE

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The railroads are trying, without real ground for an increase, to tax the meat packers $1,500,000 annually over present rates. Luther Walter, counsel for the Swift and Armour interests, told the Interstate commerce commission yesterday at the continued hearing of the western classification line's plea for higher freights.

SIX DIE IN WRECK

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Six persons were killed on the Western Maryland railroad in a wreck of the Baltimore-Hagerstown local. The wreck, resulting from a head-on collision of the two trains on the single track bridge two miles west of Thurmont, occurred last night and was due to a mixup in operating orders.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live. Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong."

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefitted by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

TOBEY IS THE COCK OF PASADENA WALKS

PASADENA, Cal., June 25.—Tobey Carney is a broad shouldered rooster, age mysterious, with a mellow bass voice, and he is so popular here that a number of citizens are meditating asking the city authorities to designate Tobey as the official bird of Pasadena.

Once upon a time Tobey's boss, John C. Carney, owned a big chicken ranch. Tobey is the sole survivor of the flock. His intellect saved him from the axe.

And now the learned fowl is a respected member of the household. He strolls like a dog with his folks to the grocery, samples the cabbage and tests the lettuce, then moseys home again when the spirit moves him. He often loiters languidly at the curb, musing on the innocent pastimes of the children in the street. At times, it is said, a tear stands in his eye, as he thinks of the dear dead fowls that were his joy in times gone by.

Every morning he escorts Carney to the street car and salutes him with a great flapping of wings as he departs. The children all love Tobey, and scuffle with him, while he even essays to ride the smaller ones his back, so muscular is he. He seldom crows now, but his friends say he has been heard to utter a sardonic chuckling sound when viewing other chickens feverishly scratching gravel for their daily refreshment.

For Tobey has a bowl of gruel thrice each day, and has no worries in the world. He always waits on the front steps for Carney's return, and anxiously cocks his eye at the shadows when the boss is late.

Some day, perhaps—for who can tell what the future has in store, Tobey may be eaten. But not while any member of the Carney family, or any of his Pasadena friends is on hand to intercede.

"Eat Tobey" they exclaim, agast, when asked about it. "Never! It would seem like cannibalism!"

IS THIS A WARNING?

THE HAGUE, June 25.—A Munich dispatch quoted the newspaper Meuse Nachrichten as pointing out that the distance a German submarine traveled in going to the Dardanelles was 5,000 miles, whereas the distance from Bremen to New York is only 2,400 miles.

"This," said the newspaper, "is an undisguised warning to the war party in the United States."

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

DEVINE SENT TO LOOK INTO MURDER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 25.—Gov. Devine announced yesterday that he had sent Hon. John P. Devine of Dixon, Ill., a member of the Illinois general assembly to Joliet, Ill., with instructions to investigate the murder of Mrs. Allen, wife of Warden E. M. Allen. Dunne announced Devine will remain at Joliet as his personal representative until the investigation is ended. Men close to the governor were inclined to believe Devine's report may decide the fate of the honor system.

Any kind of work is better than loafing; but it would seem that a lot of men are unable to appreciate this fact.

MUST HAVE PASSPORTS

LONDON, June 25.—The American consul at Liverpool notified the embassy here yesterday that in the future all Americans arriving at that port without passports will not be permitted to land.

The man who says that he never had an opportunity probably would not recognize one if he saw it.

INDICTMENTS ARE HANDED DOWN IN MOONSHINE PROBE

FORT SMITH, Ark., June 25.—In concluding its probe into the alleged $20,000,000 "moonshine" conspiracy, the grand jury this afternoon handed down indictment against the following:

Knox Booths of Nashville, Tenn., former chief of the Tennessee internal revenue division; N. C. Spradling of Aurora, Mo., former gauger at the Rush plant here; John L. Casper of Kansas City, head of the Rush distillery, whose recent arrest along with Booths and others started this probe; J. B. Thomas, local saloon-keeper; George Hartman, Kansas City; S. L. Williams, Winston-Salem, N. C.; M. Hawkins, Fred Boles, John Coffee of this city.

The charges are "moonshining" and conspiracy.

Casper, was also charged with bribing Booths. Later it was announced that J. H. Serber of Atlanta, Ga., present chief of the Georgia revenue division, and Chief McCoy of the North Carolina division, with headquarters at Asheville were indicted.

It is reported that there are a few men in Chicago who make more money than their wives can spend.

TRADE COMMISSION TAKES LONG TRIP

WASHINGTON, June 25.—A wide swing around the circle of American industrial and commercial cities is expected to be announced in a few days by the federal trade commission. Some of the cities to be visited, according to present plans, are: Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Detroit, Indianapolis, Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Spokane, Tacoma, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver and Kansas City.

Try a "Half-and-Half" Cigar Program

¶ You know how easy it is to over smoke—on Sundays—with too many heavy cigars.

¶ This Sunday, just for experiment, we suggest this half-and-half smoke program:

¶ Reserve your heavy, rich cigars for after your hearty meals.

¶ Then, between times, soothe your smoke palate with the milder fragrance of "modulated"

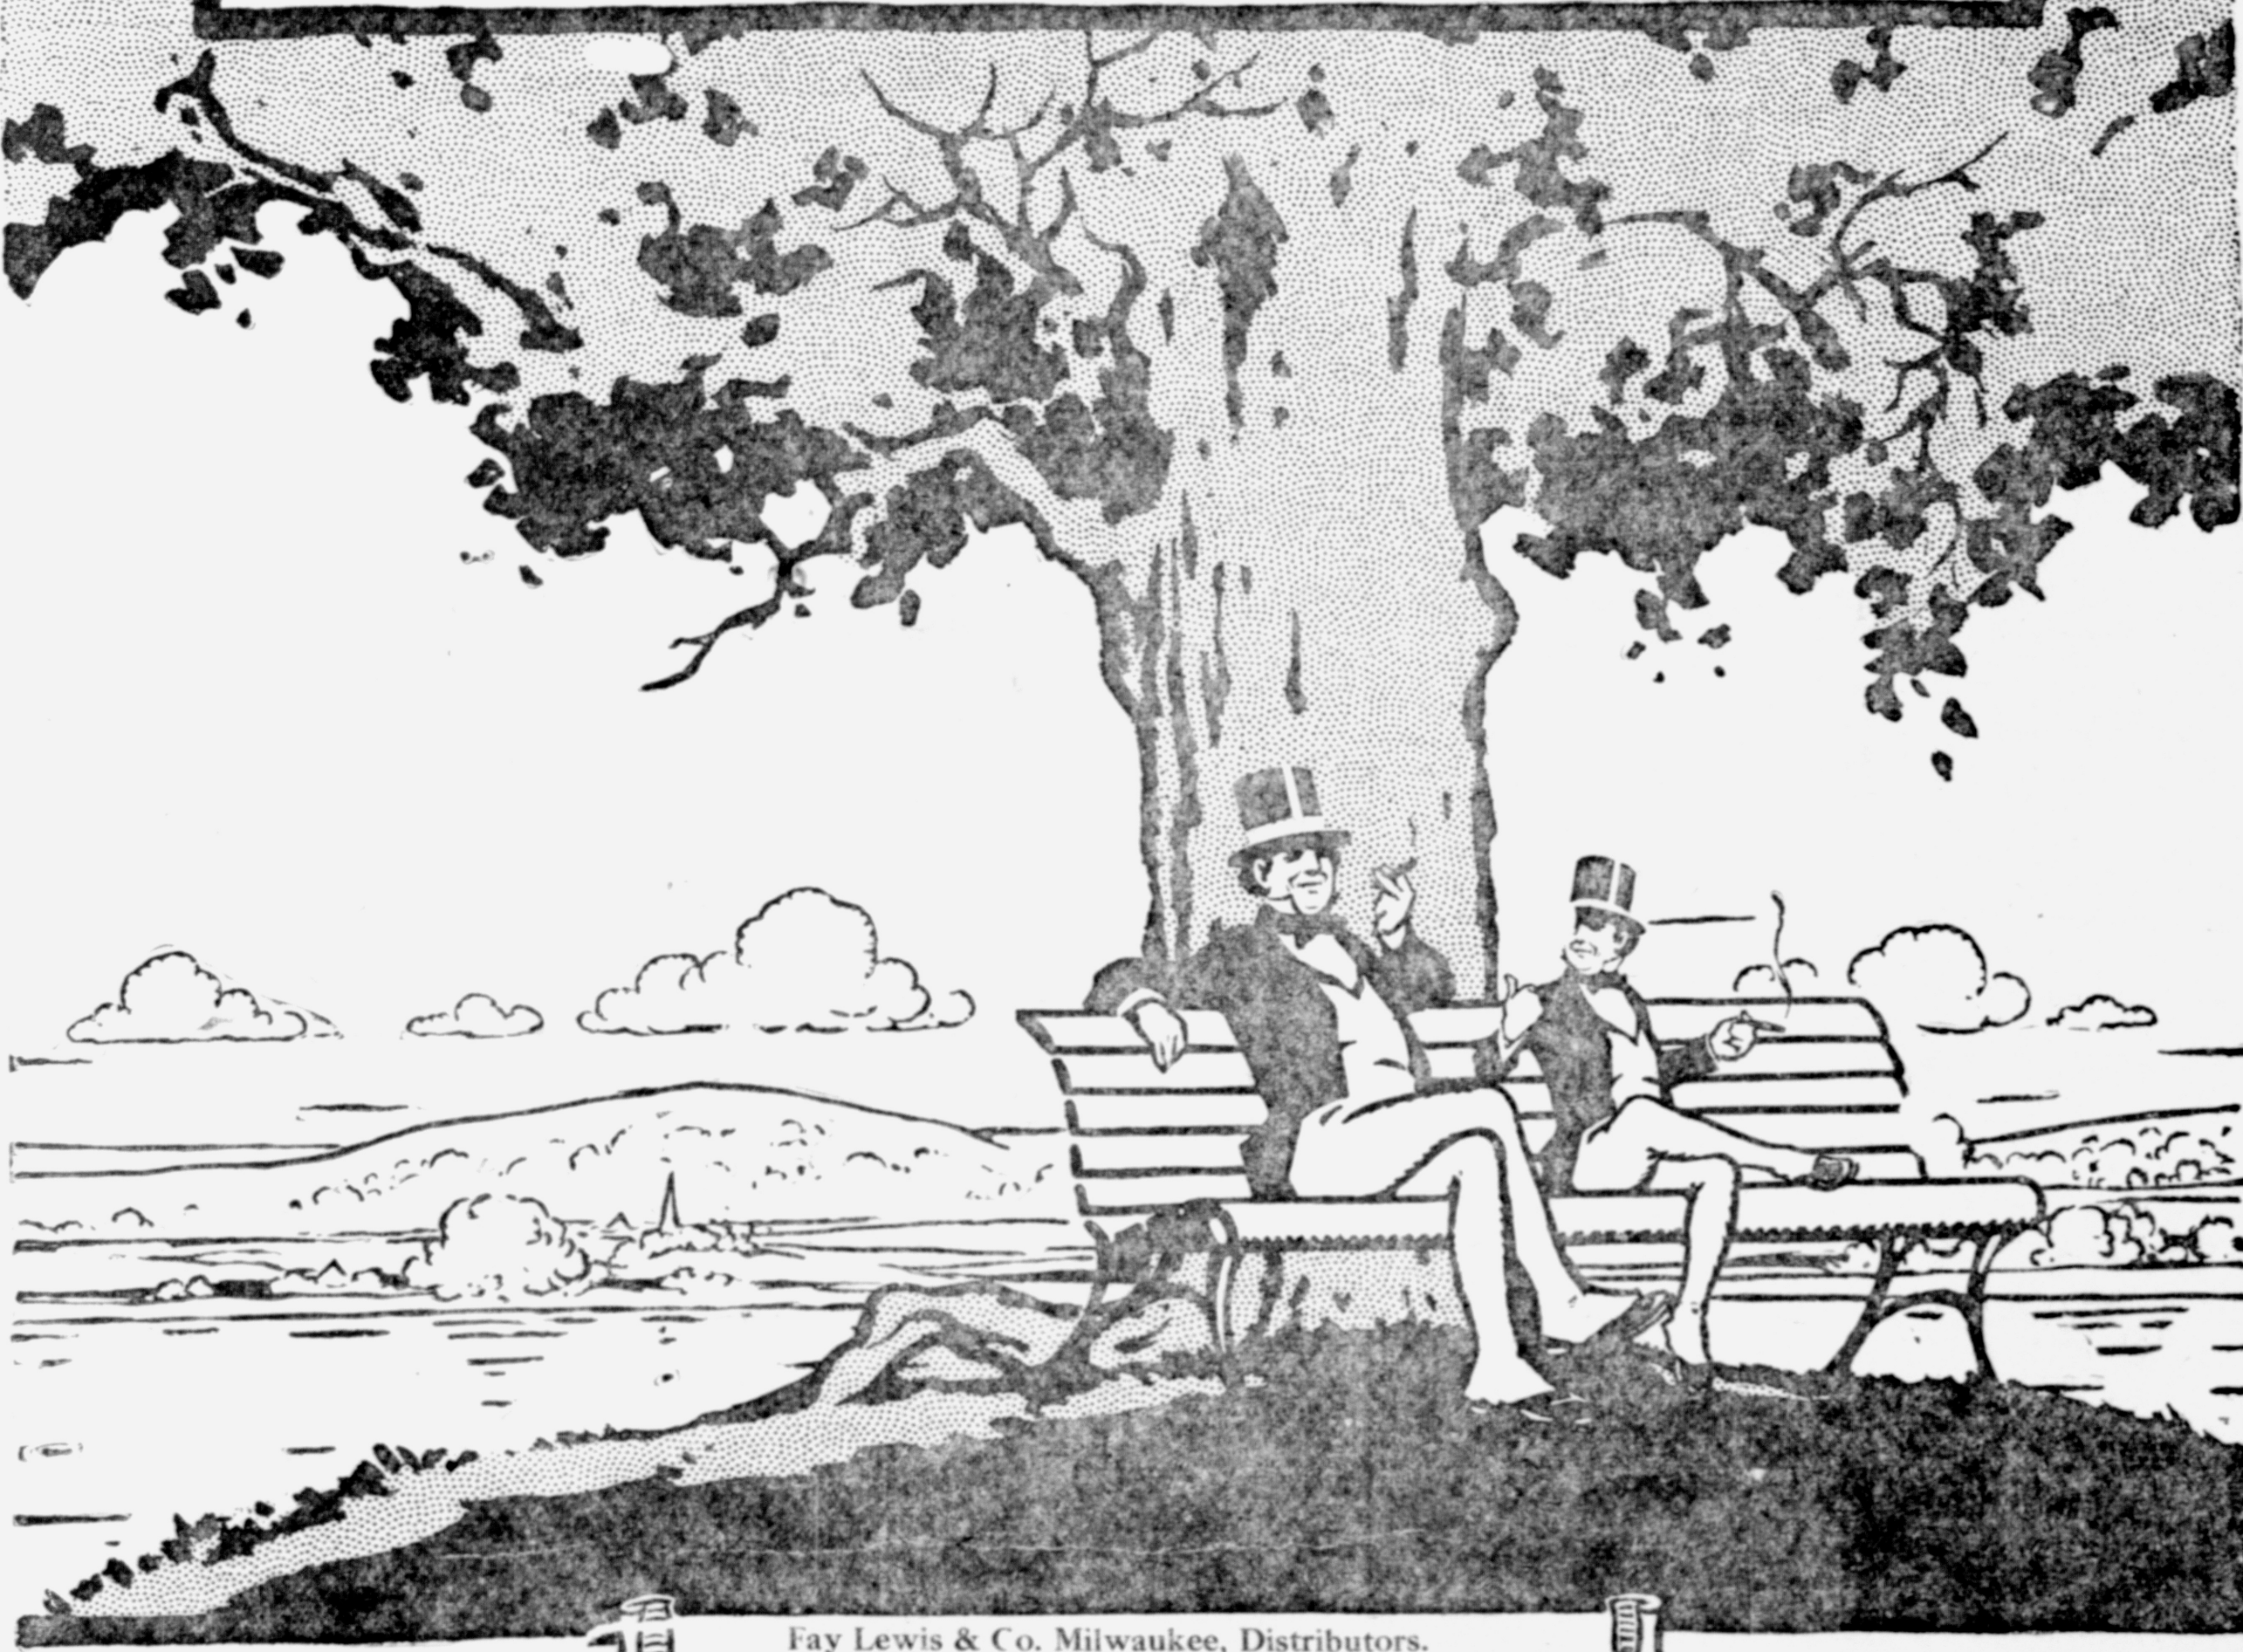

Havanas—Tom Moores. They yield you the rare consolations of fully aged Havana leaf because of the dash of milder leaves they contain. They leave your cigar relish unharmed and your smoker taste tried up and keen.

¶ Learn about smoking what those other men have learned who always come back for Moore.

VASSAR ALUMNAE ERECT MONUMENT TO PROF. ORTON

Remember Professor of the Sixties Who Died of Exposure on Lake Titicaca

Far away in South America, on a small and unfrequented island in the Lake of Titicaca, stands a little crumbling tombstone roughly built of stones by sympathetic hands, which serves to mark the last resting place of a once noted American explorer, Professor James Orton. Not very many now living remember the modest, kindly scholar whose work advanced the cause of human knowledge, and in whom the gentle nature of the poet was linked with the daring spirit of the explorer of unknown wilds. Only in the hearts of his surviving relatives and of Vassar graduates of some forty years ago is his memory enshrined, and until recently comparatively few even of these remembered how Orton lost his life and where his body lay interred. They have now, however, learned something of the particulars of his death and the location of his grave, and a movement has been started among the Vassar alumnae of the days of the early seventies, among their daughters and their grand-daughters, and soon a marble shaft will rise to mark the spot where, "Far from tourist travel and the world's unheeding race," James Orton sleeps.

An article by Edward Albes in the Monthly Bulletin of the Pan-American Union served to awaken the memories of those who had forgotten and struck a responsive cord in the hearts of the elder Vassar women. It was their old professor who lay there, "far from kindred, home and friends, almost unknown and certainly unsung"—as the writer had it—and as soon as the knowledge came to them they determined to show the world that Vassar's alumnae were equal to the occasion. A committee has been appointed to collect a fund by private subscription, a fund that will be adequate to provide a suitable monument and the work is being systematically and zealously carried on.

Born in New York, Orton, who was born at Seneca Falls, New York, in 1830, and educated at Williams college and Andover Theological seminary, entered upon his career as a scientist in 1866, when he was appointed instructor in natural sciences in Rochester university. In 1867 a scientific expedition to the equatorial Andes and the River Amazon was organized under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution, and Prof. Orton was selected as its leader. As a result of this expedition many hitherto unknown specimens of natural history were collected and today form portions of the collections in the museums of such well known depositories as the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Science, the Boston Society of Natural History, the Peabody Academy of Science, and Vassar college, while the bulk of the collection was purchased by Ingham University.

Takes Natural History Chair Upon his return to the United States, Professor Orton was offered the chair of natural history at Vassar college in 1869, with which institution he remained until his tragic death in 1877. In 1873 he made a second journey across South America from Para up the Amazon to Lima, Peru, and to Lake Titicaca, making valuable ethnological collections of Inca relics. In 1876 he organized a third expedition, with the object of exploring the Great Beni River, a branch of the Madeira, one of his companions being Dr. Edwin Ruthven Heath, the well-known discoverer of the River Heath in South America, who is still living, hale and hearty, in Kansas City, Mo. This expedition reached the mouth of the river, where most of the equipment and supplies were lost. Orton and his few companions made

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush your Kidneys occasionally if you eat meat regularly.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

the terrible 600-mile journey back to LaPaz through forest and jungle amid incredible hardships, but on crossing Lake Titicaca on the way to Junco the intrepid scientist died September 25, 1877, from the exposure incurred. Subsequently his remains were taken to Esteves Island and by sympathetic friends, and some years ago a Scotch engineer by the name of Crighton built with his own hands the rough monument which now marks the spot where, "to the everlasting requiem of Titicaca's ceaseless waves, almost in the very shadow of the snow-capped peaks he loved so well, James Orton sleeps."

HOMER, MINN.

HOMER, Minn., June 25.—(Special.)—On Wednesday at the German Lutheran church in Winona occurred the marriage of Miss Clara Niemeyer and Edward Nemetz. The couple were attended by Miss Kathryn Fee, as bridesmaid and Arthur Niemeyer as best man.

The bride was gowned in white voile trimmed with valenciennes lace. She wore a veil and carried bride's roses.

The bridesmaid was dressed in white and carried carnations. The wedding was a quiet affair on account of the recent death of one of the bride's relatives.

After the marriage the bridal party drove to the home of her parents in Homer Valley, where a number of their friends gathered to offer congratulations.

Iron Worker Praises Duffy's

Here's a case of a structural iron worker who suffered severe stomach trouble, but thanks to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey he is almost ready to resume his hazardous calling:

"For many weeks I was laid up sick in bed in the hospital with stomach trouble which gradually wore me away to a mere skeleton. The hospital treatment did not seem to improve me, so my doctor said I would not get well and told my people to take me home, as there was nothing any one on this earth could do for me. When I reached home my doctor ordered me to be fed on a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey every two hours. After taking Duffy's for over one week, without another morsel of food entering my system, I began to have a longing for something to eat, and to my surprise found I could keep a little oatmeal gruel on my stomach, and gradually I regained my former appetite and felt better. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the cause for my present good state of health, and my doctor says I will soon be able to go back to my trade of structural iron worker. I am not afraid of the truth and hope others will benefit from the use of Duffy's the same as myself."—Thomas Satchell, 275 Tillary St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

may be relied upon in extreme cases where other foods are rejected. When taken as directed just before meals, it assists in keeping healthy the essential functions of digestion because it induces activity in the flow of gastric juices so the food you eat will digest naturally. This action on the digestive process is of great importance as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor. It's a medicine for all mankind, and you, too, can

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 25.—The opening of today's stock market was the quietest seen for some time. Sales were few and small. United States Rubber made a new low record, selling from 54 to 54.

11 a. m.—The market relaxed into stagnation during the second hour and prices fell off a fraction.

Trading was still dull in the early afternoon, but prices, particularly the industrials, showed a tendency to rise. Bethlehem Steel advanced 3/4 to 173 3/4.

Noon.—Missouri Pacific sold at 85 1/4, off 2 1/4 during the second hour. Rock Island also sold down, while Baldwin Locomotive was up at 67 3/4. The stock market closed irregular.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, June 25.—Wheat was rather nervous today but the fluctuations were not wide. Prices tended downward after an upward opening due to strong Liverpool cables. Plentiful offerings at the opening advanced quickly checking advances, with weather conditions aiding, was chiefly responsible for the trend of lower levels.

Lower Liverpool corn cables and weather over most of the corn belt made that cereal lower today. Prices at the opening showed overnight recessions of 3/4 to 1/2 c. At one time there was considerable buying and prices went 1/2 to 1/4 c above the opening, only to decline again later.

Oats were inactive with fluctuations only fractional, and these tending downward with the other grains. Provisions were lower on increas-

SECOND LAP OF TRIAL IS BEGUN

Testimony in 'Bride's Bath' Case in London Centers on Death of Second of Victims

BY WILBUR S. FORREST (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, June 25.—Trial of George Joseph Smith, charged with the murder of three of his six wives, turned today to the mysterious death of his second alleged victim, Alice Burnham, at the fashionable seaside resort of Blackpool, on December 12, 1913.

Miss Burnham, like Beatrice Mundy, the first of Smith's wives to die mysteriously, was found dead in a bathtub in a boarding house at Blackpool. The landlady ran upstairs in response to Smith's cry and found him bending over the tub, holding the head of the nude, dead woman.

Alice Burnham was a beautiful nurse. She met Smith a year after he had collected Beatrice Mundy's $10,000 and married him two months later. She gave him $500, according to the crown's witnesses, and insured her life for $2,500 in Smith's favor.

Dr. Harold Barrows, medical examiner at South Sea, near Blackpool, testified today that he examined Miss Burnham when she obtained the insurance policy. He found her in splendid physical condition, he said.

James Knowles, manager of a bank at Landport, another resort near South Sea, was the next witness. He testified that Smith had at various times made deposits in the bank. He particularly recalled two deposits of $2,500 each.

BRITISH LABOR LEADERS ADMIT WOMEN TO UNION

LONDON, June 25.—British labor leaders announced today that they decided to admit to full membership in the national railways' union all women who have been engaged in railway work since the beginning of the war. The women, furthermore, will be regarded as permanent employees.

COURT HOUSE IS NOISY

County officials resigned themselves to a little war all their own today, when the reverberations of pounding on pipes resounded through the building. Contractors started this morning to install the new vapor heating system, to replace the unsatisfactory heating plant that has caused the officials to shiver. Work will also be started soon on the repairing of the plumbing system at the county jail.

But the thorn remains long after the rose has withered.

The New Models in Wirthmor WAISTS on Sale Tomorrow. Always $1, Always Worth More.

These very desirable Waists are sold here and here only.

There are hundreds and hundreds of Dollar Waists, but there is just one Wirthmor and the Wirthmor is entirely unlike any other waist that's made to sell at this low price; in fact every waist bearing a Wirthmor label has that fineness—that daintiness, that distinctiveness, that very goodness, that is ordinarily found only in much higher priced waists. If you once learn how satisfactory these waists really are, you will never consider going elsewhere when wanting a moderate price waist, for you'll well understand how far they differ, and how much better they are than all other Dollar Waists.

EAGLES FAVOR A FRATERNAL MILITIA

Support Bill Now Before Congress to Train Members of Various Secret Organizations

WOULD ACT ONLY FOR DEFENSE

National Aerie Asked to Use Influence to Provide Against Police Duty Calls

WisconsinEagles in the closing session of their convention yesterday adopted a resolution providing for a citizen soldiery made up of certain fraternal organizations.

The resolution points out that the European conflict has caused thinking Americans to realize the weakness of our defense, and supports President Wilson's suggestion that the possible solution would be a citizen soldiery. The members insert the clause that such militia be used only for defense in time of war, and not for police duty at any time.

The resolution follows: "Whereas, the destructive conflict now involving six out of eight of the foremost nations of the world has centered the attention of thinking Americans on the weakness of our defense in case the republic should become involved; and

"Whereas, President Wilson in his annual message to congress last December made special reference to the needs of this country along the line of proper defense, suggesting that the possible solution of this problem was the training of a citizen soldiery; and

"Whereas, there was introduced in the last congress by Congressman John M. Morin, past worthy president of Pittsburg aerie No. 76, a resolution known as house bill No. 21,598, providing for instruction in military evolutions to be given by federal officers to members of the various fraternities who comply with certain procedures to be determined by the secretary of war;

"Now, be it resolved by the Wisconsin state aerie of Eagles in convention assembled:

"That we are in sympathy with the general idea embodied in house bill No. 21,598;

"That we especially favor a specific provision stipulating that such militia shall be used as a defensive force in case the nation is invaded or is driven into war where another nation is the aggressor;

"That we favor the grand aerie using its rapidly growing national influence in furthering the adoption of this measure with the necessary changes in the next congress."

LANSING PLANS BIG CHAUTAUQUA

Long Program Including Five Days of Activities Is Announced for July 8; Town Decorated

LANSING, Iowa, June 25.—(Special.)—The city is already in gala attire for the coming chautauqua and musical festival to be held from July 8 to 13, inclusive. Great streamers of different colored pennants, and gay banners are stretched across Main street at each intersection, and the populace in general is making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of its guests. The following program is to be carried out:

Thursday, July 8.—Children's meeting of play supervisor at grounds at 9 a. m.; musical number, 2:30 p. m.; the Alpine singers and yodlers, 3 p. m.; lecture, "Moonshine," by B. F. McDonald, 8 p. m. Alpine singers and yodlers will give an entire evening's program and an entertaining session is promised all attending, the numbers to be given including Swiss folk songs and famous chants of the Alps. Beautiful native costumes will add much to this fascinating number.

Friday, July 9.—The children will contest for honors. The Hinton Mordella company in impersonations and dialects will be heard in the afternoon at 2:30, followed by George Colby in pencil sketches and short talks at 3 p. m. Friday evening will be given over to two divisions, the Hinton Mordella company at 8 p. m. and the lecture, "Catch My Pal," by Robert Patterson.

Saturday morning's work will start with the children actually getting down to work at the chautauqua grounds at 9 a. m., the variety club having the rostrum from 2:30 p. m. until 3 p. m., when the crowning lecture number of the session, "The Boy Accused of Crime," will be presented by Judge Lee Estelle of Omaha, Neb. The variety club will again entertain the public in the evening by a varied entertainment of vocal and instrumental numbers.

Sunday at 2:30 p. m., the Regenerias will be heard in entertainment with the lecture, "Progressive Citizenship," Vesper service at 4:15 p. m. A literary and musical number by the Regenerias will be given from 8 until 8:45, Dr. Frederic Poole then taking the rostrum in his illustrated lecture, "The Land of the Dragon." Motion pictures will enhance this talk wonderfully and make it most effective and impressive.

Monday, the final day of the chautauqua, brings some of the finest musical features ever presented. At 2:30 p. m. the El Dorado Grand Op-

The climax of the five days' work will be introduced to the public at 8 p. m., the El Dorado company appearing in extracts from the famous grand opera numbers.

An interesting cooking demonstration in aluminum ware will take place at the home of Miss Susan Baker tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The demonstrator is a young college student of Beloit university. Refreshments are to be served, all same to be prepared in aluminum dishes, and numerous tests as to the efficiency of the material will be brought to the view of the public.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Twins Who Didn't Look Alike.

"I KNEW a pair of twins once who didn't look alike," said daddy, starting the evening story for Jack and Evelyn. "You hear much of twins who do look alike, but you don't hear so much about those who do not."

"They were brother and sister. The sister was such a pretty little mite, with golden hair and blue eyes. The brother had red hair and a pug nose and freckles."

"The twins, besides looking entirely different from each other, were also different in dispositions. I know another little boy and girl who are like that, but this story is not about them. It is about the twins."

"The little girl was a nice little tot who always minded her mamma, and the little boy was a nice little boy who minded his mamma sometimes, and when his papa called him in to see him sometimes he was apt to mind mamma for several days, maybe."

"The boy twin was always leading the girl twin into all kinds of trouble or perhaps I should say mischief, for, while they didn't look alike, they were always together, as twins usually are."

"The girl twin was a little girl who would never take a dare, and I am not proud to say of the freckled face boy twin that he was always getting her to do things that he didn't dare to do himself. I think this was the funniest one."

"The twins' father owned a big black horse named Don. The twins were up in the haymow one day when Don was eating his dinner, and the boy twin said to his sister, 'I'll dare you to slide down that hay chute and surprise Don.'"

"He didn't think she would do it, but no sooner did he say this than she just slid down that hay chute, and the boy twin heard a great stamping and snorting, and down the stairs he flew, thinking his little twin sister might be hurt. But there she sat in the manger, grinning at old Don, who was hauling back on his halter and snorting."

"There," said the little girl twin, "don't you ever dare to tell me I'm afraid again. Don, Don, look at his face. He is just as scared as he can be." And the little girl twin pointed her tiny finger at her brother's face, which, sure enough, was as white as a piece of white paper, and his little legs were trembling, and his little heart was going pit-a-pat under his blouse till it almost suffocated him.

"After that he was more careful of his little twin sister and never dared her to do foolish things."

DEALERS ATTEMPT TO TIE UP TRADES

CHICAGO, June 25.—Leaders in the manufacture of building material with the power of millions behind them today took steps to tie up completely the building industry in Chicago, in an effort to bring the 16,000 striking carpenters to terms. The big Edward Hines Lumber company is sending out notices today that after this week no materials will be delivered from any of its twenty yards. William Schlake, president of the Illinois Brick company, said similar action would be taken tomorrow by the brick manufacturers.

Such action would hit building contractors who do not belong to the association against whom the carpenters declared the strike, and who have re-employed carpenters at the wage increase for which the men struck.

Carpenter union officials said this afternoon that such action by lumbermen and brick manufacturers will not be felt for two months at the least, as the contractors who have agreed to wage increases anticipated such action and have laid in reserve supplies.

GREAT AUSTRIAN ARMY GATHERED AROUND TRIESTE

ROME, June 25.—Two hundred thousand Austrian troops are concentrated around Trieste, according to the Giornale d'Italia, which cited refugees arriving at Ancona as its authority.

"Many gun batteries command the approaches to the city," the newspaper asserted. "From the outskirts of Trieste the boom of Italian guns around Monfalcone may be heard."

"An Italian dirigible recently bombarded and seriously damaged the ammunition factory at Trieste."

CLEVELAND, O.—A crowd of about 200,000 saw John Spilker marry Miss Elsie Wuerz at a carnival of merchants, who gave the couple a completely furnished house.
